REV. MR. WALL'S POEM. -The Fredericksburg Herald speaks in terms of high praise of the Poem of Rev. Mr. Wall, on Fashion, which he recited in Fredericksburg on Friday night last, and which will be recited in this place next Friday evening. The Herald says: The Grecian Bend, panniers, high-heeled boots, frizz'e-heads, and the no-bonnets of the present day, each and all, and scores of other of the excesses and extravaganzas of Fashion came in and were inimitably caricatured. Nor was lovely woman left alone to bear the brunt of the weakness of following Fashior. The sternersex were told of their tights-"very tight"-their swallow tails, their claret and blue with brass buttons, &c., &c. Not the least interesting was the happily drawn moral which followed the subject matter of the Poem. -These was a fervid, pious invocation that touched the heart, and convinced the moral sense, though it struct terrible blows at the Fashion of over-dressing in those who repair to the house of worship.

W., A. & G. R. R.-It was mentioned in yesterday's Gazette that a new locomotive had arrived for the W., A. &. G. R. R. It was made at Taunton, Mass., and is known as a light eight-wheeler, and is quite a handsome piece of work. It is named the "Salmon P. Chase." With the addition of this engine the company will be enabled, and will shortly commence, to run hourly trains between the two cities. The new locomotive, which is in Washington, will be in running order in a day or two. It will be furnished by Mr. William Cogan, of this city, with the most brilliant head light ever before seen anywhere about here.

WINTER FISHING. - It was mentioned a day or two ago that the winter fishermen were preparing their outfits for an early commencement of operations, Mr. Joseph Cawood, who fishes the landing at Foulkes,' left here yesterday in the steamer Guiding Star with a complement of hands for that shore, and will commence hauling the seine at once. Others will soon tollow his example. It this weather holds it will not be long before the nerring begin to show them-

THE NOKESVILLE DIFFICULTY,-It is stated by persons living in the Nokesville neighborbood that the late difficulty between Mr. Bun. Grigsby and the Messrs. Marsteller has been settled. The former was compelled to sign a paper, and to submit to a severe eastigation, but the latter afterwards gave up the paper, and expressed regret for naving acted so

ANOTHER DEPREDATION.-Sunday night some petty thieves broke open the coal house at St. John's Academy, by prizing off a board, and stole some coal, and an axe and shovel, Several times before coal has been stolen, and once the thief broke into the school house, on Sunday, and stole a drum, but dropped it in the yard because he saw some boys in the neighbor-

No MURDER. - It is said that the physician who attended the late Mr. McKenley in the illness which preceded his death, states that he died from natural causes, and not from the offects of a blow he received on the head the night after Christmas from a colored man to whom he had refused to sell liquor, as some suppose.

STORM. - Yesterday evening we had the first lightning and thunder of the year 1870-at least, in this section of country. A heavy cloud came up from the southwest-there were several flashes of lightning-the thunder rolled several times -the wind blew violently -and the rain fell in torrents.

STORE FOUND OPEN .-- The door of the paper store on the corner of King and St. Asaph streets, in the W., A. & G. R. R. depot building, was discovered to be open by the watch,a night or two ago, but an examination of the contents of the store did not disclose a robbery +-

MAGISTRATES' OFFICE .- George Wilson, colored, arrested at Murder Bay, in Washington, yesterday evening, on the charge of complicity in the supposed murder of the late James Mc-Kenley, who was struck on the head the night after Christmas, and died soon after, was committed to iail to await an examination. BANK MOVEMENTS IN RICHMOND. - The Richmond correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says: - "There is a little secret history connected with the withdrawal of Mr. Mactarland, president, and John M. Goddin, cashier, from the Pianters' National Bank of this city. The common impression is that these gentlemen withdrew to accept similar positions in the State Bank of Virginia, just chartered, but the truth is that both were ousted by a stroke of financial policy. Mr. John B. Davis, of Richmond, long a stockholder in the Pianters' National Bank, some time ago became displeased at the administration of the bank and the small dividends he received on his investment, and he sought to sell his stock to the institution. Failing in this, he began, about two months ago, when the shares were selling | Court. for less than $60, to buy up all the stock he could find in market, soon running it up to $90 per share, He managed, however, with the assistance of Reuben Ragland, of Petersburg, to secure enough stock to control the bank, and the result is that he is president, with a salary of $5,000, and his son, John C. Davis, is eashier with a salary of $4,000. One good turn deserving another, Davis also aided Reuben Ragland to play the same game, to a like result, with the First National Bank of Petersburg. The State Bank of Virginia is an advantage which the citizens of Richmond derive from the change in the management of the Planters' National Bank.

RAILROAD CONNECTIONS, -The Nashville Banner, in the course of an article alluding to Chattanooga as the future great connecting and distributing point for trade between the East and Southwest, says:

Both Philadelphia and Baltimore desire and promise to aid the construction of a railroad from Hagerstown, Maryland, via the Shenandoah and Clinch River Valleys to Chattanooga. It is urged by Philadelphia and Baltimore that 'additional facilities for the sale and speedy cities of the Northeastern States to those situated in the Southwestern States has already become a paramount necessity," and that the necessay means can be speedily secured to con struct the road. Hagerstown, Maryland, the present terminus of the Harrisburg and Hagers town Railroad, is the selected point of departure; thence up the Shenandoah Valley via Winchester to Craigville, a station on the Virginia Central Railroad; thence along the line of, or as near as praticable to the said Virginia Wolf River; thence up Maiden Spring Fork to the head waters of Clinch River; thence along the western margin of this beautiful river, crossing Powell's River at or near its confluence with the Clinch ; then via Clinton and in common with the proposed line of the Tennessee and Pacific Railroad to a junction with the proposed Cincinnati Southern Railroad at the entrance to Big Emory Gap; thence in common with the latter road to Chattanooga.

Some remarkable statements are made in the Sirka Times about the prevalence of slavery in Alaska Territory. Slaves can be bought to day from any Indian tribe in Alaska. Parents will sell their children for three or four blankets or a few dollars, and have no compunction of conscience for the use they may be put to in the future. When one tribe goes to war with another, all the prisoners taken by either tribe are called treated, and used as slaves.

The suspension of Charles A. Lord, dry goods, in New York, announced Saturday morning, was caused, it is said, by endorsments for De Bost & Co., whose failure was recently published. The woolen jobbing house of Me-Donald & Macauley is also reported suspended -liabilities unknown. A New York letter says oscopes, Solitaire Boards, &c., &c., all of which these failures have the effect to cause a sharp will be sold cheap. CHAS. W. GREEN, -liabilities unknown. A New York letter says discrimination against dry goods paper in the money market.

PENNSYLVANIA COAL TRADE. -The Philadelphia Ledger of yesterday says : "The anthracite coal trade is very dull, and comparatively tew collieries are at work. The supply of coal at all the great centres is reported up to the de-mand, and at Elizabethport considerably in excess of the supply of vessels necessary for its distribution. At Port Richmond, in consequence of the limited production of coal in the Schuylkill region and the demand for it on the there are but tew vessels there and freights are high. A meeting of the House Reconstruction Committee was held this morning, when the subject of disabilities was discussed, and the propriety of the introduction of a bill granting general relief considered, and at the next meeting of the Committee it is probable that such a bill will be framed, though several of the members are in favor of relieving by special

VIRGINIA.

Where opposition was least expected it is strongest. The Senate, it was at first thought, would pass a simple resolution admitting Virginia, but now the bill from the House meets with strong and determined resistance, and conditions are insisted upon. Butler, it is said, has proposed to Senators, as a compromise, Willey's amendment, which he promises to carry through the House, but fears are expressed that he will again break faith, and that once in the House he will have his way, add further conditions and delay the admission of the State.

When the bill was taken up in the Senate to day there was much interest manifested, and Messra. Butler, Farnsworth, Bingham, Wood, and other members of the House were on the floor engaged in conversation with Senators, and a large number of interested spectators were in the galleries.

The fate of the bill is very uncertain, but it is most probable that some amendment will be added, which will, of course, necessitate further action by the House, and the admission of the State this week is doubtful.

The Senate refused to fix an hour for the final vote on the bill, and adjourned at halfpast four o'clock.
